TRAGEDY CLAIMS WOMAN

Mrs. Newell Colby of McHenry
Shot to Death by Her Husband's Brother

CAUSE REMAINS A MYSTERY

Nie Colby, the Murderer, After Shooting Woman, Attempts Suicide and is Now in a Critical Condition

Mr. Nie Colby, who resides just one mile west of McHenry on the old Colby farm, shot and instantly killed his sister-in-law, Mrs. Newell Colby, with a rifle Friday evening at eight o'clock says a special from McHenry. The fact is of interest because the principle actors are well known and have relatives in Lake county.

Mrs. Newell Colby was evidently lured from the family residence to the barn by the murderer, as the barn was the scene of the shooting.

Following the murderous attack upon the life of his sister-in-law, Colby turned the rifle upon himself, inflicting two wounds, one in the mouth, the other above the right eye.

When found by relatives it was discovered that two wounds had been inflicted. The woman was dead when found. Colby lay in a pool of blood at her side, unconscious and in a dying condition. He was placed in the custody of the sheriff of the county who had him removed to the power house near the county jail.

Either of the two wounds inflicted in the body of the woman would have caused instant death. One rifle hole was found in the breast, the other in the forehead.

Mrs. Newell Colby's husband is at present doing time at the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet. Last summer he shot and killed Dr. Beebe, also of McHenry. The murdered woman leaves three children to mourn her death.

The cause of the murderous attack is a mystery which has evidently foiled the police of McHenry county. It is feared, however, that Colby might have loved his brother's wife and that he had been "turned down" by her, thus the act. Although her husband is confined in the state penitentiary the marriage vows and seals have been preserved and friends of the deceased claim that she still loved her husband.

Excitement reigned supreme at McHenry all day Saturday. Crowds gathered about the sheriff's office and all appeared to await the results of the coroner's inquest. It was feared that the crowd had gathered for other intentions, but later this report was denied.

BOY PARALYZED FROM DIVE AT FOX RIVER

Last Sunday a promising and popular youth of Elgin, was fatally injured while swimming in Fox river at Trout park. Barrington. The boy was Harry Jencks, son of of John Jencks, who is well known in the county.

While diving the young fellow struck the back of his neck and has since lain paralyzed, conscious at intervals, realizing his fate; until Monday the arms were unaffected, but he is much worse and probably will not survive many hours.

His age was seventeen, until recently a public school student and lately employed in a Chicago bank.

A Coward of Conscience.
Tired and dusty the excursion was returning from the bank holiday trip, and Simkins, a little bald man with big ears, overcome with his day of happiness, dropped off to sleep, says the Philadelphia Record. In the hat-rack above, another passenger had deposited a ferocious crab in a bucket, and when Simkins went to sleep the crab woke up, and finding things dull in the bucket, started exploring. By careful navigation Mr. Crab reached the end of the rack, but the next moment down it fell, alighting on Simkins' shoulder. Not feeling quite safe, it grabbed the voluminous ear of Simkins to steady itself, and the passengers held their breath and waited for developments. But Simkins only shook his head slightly.

"Let go, Emma," he murmured. "I tell you that I have been at the office all the evening."

LIGHTNING AND WIRE FENCE

State Fire Marshal of Ohio Comments on Loss of Live Stock—How to Prevent It

State Fire Marshal Rogers in his bulletin says as to stock killed by lightning carried by barbed wire fences:

The use of barbed wire fences multiplies by three the loss of live stock by lightning. In the prairie states, companies have worked out the remedy. They find that the loss from thunderbolts fired along fence wires, which constitute two-thirds of the total loss on cattle, horses and sheep by lightning, can be obviated entirely by grounding the wires. Last summer in Iowa a single stroke running on a fence wire killed nineteen head of cattle, and in Illinois twenty-eight head. During a storm cattle drift before the wind against a fence and then to a fence corner. Sharp barbs in a wire increase its liability to stroke.

An electrical discharge from the sky is always seeking a home with mother earth, but if it reaches a good conductor such as an iron wire, it follows it to a point at which there is an easy jump to the ground. A steel being two-thirds water is an ideal conductor. When wet with rain he gives off a warm vapor which makes an easy path for lightning to follow to the earth. So, standing near a charged wire, he is an easy mark.

An adjuster in Iowa reports: "Lightning killed three steers about a half mile from where it struck a fence in one direction, and in the opposite direction a cow and a colt were killed by the same discharge."

All the delegates to the annual meeting of the American Association of Fire Insurance Companies at Denver agreed that the loss of stock farm lightning was reduced two-thirds by the grounding of wire fence. F. E. Lynch of Nebraska said that in 900 reports he had of stock killed, 80 per cent. stated: "Cattle lying close to fence, wire melted and post split."

The president of the association, Mr. Forbes, said: "In my company 60 per cent. of buildings are rodged. On the rodged buildings we two dollars in nine year; and on forty per cent, not rodged we lost $5,000 and the same rule applies to grounding wire fences."

In Kansas recently 500 feet of wire fence was melted by lightning.

Officers of a number of western companies in reply to question from this department, have given their experience with different methods of grounding. The size of the wire used in the different states varies from No. 14 barbed to 36-inch iron rod. The distance advised between ground wires varies from 64 to 200 feet. All these methods have prove satisfactory. Near corners and in depressions each post should have a ground wire.

The instructions given by John Emanuel, North Bend, Neb., are terse: "Cut galvanized No. 12 wire in lengths of eight feet. On a rainy day start the boys out with wagon and team, a hammer and fence staples and a wagon end gate rod. With this rod they can push a hole in the ground beside the post three feet deep. The lower end of the wire goes into this and the upper end projects a little above the fence post. Be sure that this wire is stapled good and solid to every fence wire and the post. This is a good pastime for the boys—better than going hunting."

INGLESIDE ANNEXED TO FOX LAKE

By a special election held at Ingleside last week, that village was annexed to the village of Fox Lake. The petition to annex was circulated about the village last week and met with much enthusiasm among the villagers. Fox Lake was willing to make the annexation as it means that much additional revenue.

Strange as it may seem it is declared that the one and only reason that actuated Ingleside to ask for annexation was that licensed saloons might operate with limits. This is allowed in Fox Lake by the articles of incorporation and Ingleside as an annexation will be allowed the same privilege.

The war against the blind pigs in Ingleside for the past year has been waged most persistently and so far as known there are none now existing there. Several of those who operated the illicit saloons were fined repeatedly and it soon became rather expensive for them to operate.

The saloons are one of the things that makes the little village popular as a summer resort and so to keep up the resorters the annexation to a village where saloons are licensed was the only thing to be done.

Inventor of Suspension Bridge.
The inventor of the modern suspension bridge was James Finley of Pennsylvania. His first bridge was built in 1801-02. By 1810 he had built eight. He built many more after that. A bridge built by his licensee, John Tempelman, over the Merrimac, in Massachusetts, in 1810, is still in use and traversed by trolley cars. A bridge built in strict accordance with his original plans over the Lehigh river, at Lehigh Gap, in 1824, is still in use.

ROBBED WHILE IN BATHING

Two Boys Rob Bath House of Clothes and $4 from Bathers

SHARE LUNCH WITH THIEVES

One of the Robbers Occupied Boys' Attention in the Water While the Other Went Ashore Feigning a Cramp

Forcing the lock on one of the bath houses at the lake Tuesday afternoon at Waukegan, two young men, supposed to be from Chicago, stole a new suit of clothes belonging to David Horning, son of H. C. Horning, of the Washburn hotel, and a sum of money belonging to Herbert Morehouse. One of the robbers occupied the attention of the two victims while the other robber rifled the bath house.

The boys had taken their lunch to the lake intending to spend the afternoon there. While there they fell in with two young fellows about fifteen or eighteen years old, who said they were from Chicago and who called each other Charlie and Joe.

The boys talked with them and at noon even shared their lunch with the boys who later robbed them.

About one o'clock all four of them went in swimming, but soon one of the visitors complained of feeling a slight cramp and returned to the shore, leaving the other three in the water. The boys state that the boy who stayed out with them seemed anxious for them to stick near him and to go out farther. The idea now is that he wished to keep them busy while his companion did the looting.

Horning and Morehouse had left their clothing in one of the bath houses and had locked the door, as is customary, upon entering the water.

The robber evidently forced the lock and thus secured entrance. Young Morehouse was robbed of $4 which he had in bills in an inside pocket, but robbers evidently overlooked about a dollar in silver which another pocket held. Horning fared still worse, however, for the robbers, not content with money alone added all his clothes to their booty. He was left with only his bathing suit, and new clothes had to be brought him before he could return home.

The police have been notified but as yet the robbers have defied their efforts to catch them.

The general supposition is that the robbers have used the money they obtained to leave the city, evidently going to Chicago where they had said they lived, by boat or rail.

It was thought that the two lads might have come from the steamer Pere Marquette but although a watch was kept on the boat, they failed to put in an appearance or else slipped on board in the midst of a crowd so that they could not be detected. This is the first robbery of the kind to occur in a long time and the very boldness of the thieves is what aided them to make their escape.

MARRIED IN CHICAGO LAST WEEK

On Tuesday of last week in Chicago occurred the marriage of Miss Marie Ligier and Mr. Frank Palmer both well known young people of Antioch.

Their intended marriage was kept a profound secret and when announced was a complete surprise to their many friends. The bride formerly resided in Chicago but has made her home in Antioch and vicinity for the past year.

The groom is a well known hereabouts having lived in this vicinity all his life, and both have many friends among the young people who wish them a long life of joy and happiness.

The happy couple returned to Antioch on Thursday and are now at home to their friends in the upper rooms of the Willett house on Lake street.

KILLED BY FAST TRAIN

Roy Reed of Otsego, Michigan
Meets Horrible Death at North Chicago

WAS 19 YEARS OF AGE

Received Injury at the Docks, Waukegan, Where He was Employed, and may have Wandered off in Delirium

Roy Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Reed of Otsego, Allegan county, Michigan, an employe at the Western Coal and Dock Company, Waukegan, was instantly killed on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad tracks near North Chicago late Saturday evening.

The remains which were badly cut up, were picked up by the crew of the train which arrived from the south at 12:55 Sunday morning, and were immediately sent to the undertaking parlors of Thacker & White.

Chief of Police Tyrrell took charge of the case soon after the accident. Post cards and letters found in Reed's pocket revealed the location of his home. A telegram to his parents brought back the following reply: "Ask Otto Miller of 213 Belvidere street if Ray Reed, my son, was killed. Wire particulars."

An interview with the above named resident revealed the boy's identity. What he was doing at or near North Chicago is a mystery the police are trying to solve.

Saturday afternoon the boy who is but nineteen or twenty years of age was injured at the Western Coal and Dock Company plant when he was hit in the head by a bucket. Dr. Knight dressed the wound.

It is thought that he was hit by the late fast-south-bound train. The fact that the body was still warm when taken to Waukegan has led all to believe this. Chief Tyrrell sent word to the boy's parents as soon as he had been identified.

Three souvenir cards all from Fox Lake were found in his pocket. One was addressed to Miss Ester Hase, probably his sweetheart.

An open verdict was brought in by the special jury sworn in to look into the facts connected with the killing of Roy Reed Sunday morning as it was learned that Bert Brenton of Center street was with Reed as late as ten o'clock Saturday evening and according to reports was missing. Later he was located at Lake Villa where all unkind of his friend's fate he had gone on Sunday morning to spend a short vacation after having obtained a three days furlough at the Western Coal and Dock Company's dock where he was employed.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE THIS WEEK AND NEXT AT WAUKEGAN

The annual teachers' institute for Lake county opened Monday and will continue for two weeks, the longest ever held in the county.

Features will be a daily lecture in the afternoon and the method of conducting the institute which will be by regular classes and recitations, a plan adopted for the benefit of the younger teachers, of whom there are many, and whom it is designed to give a two weeks' normal school training.

Those who will appear and their subjects:

Principal W. E. Dubois of Winona Lake Academy, arithmetic, geography and grammar.

Superintendent W. Don Smith civics, history.

Mrs. Cora T. Benedict, Highland Park high school, primary reading and language art work. The sessions open at nine in the morning and last until noon, and reopen at one fifteen to last until three forty five in the afternoon.

R. R. Laughlin will have charge of the music and the historical society will have one afternoon.

The institute will be held at the Central school.

Why Are We So Hard?

The following motto was on the wall of a woman's bedroom: "Let us take hands and help each other to-day because we are alive together."

She is a bride of a year, and that is the sentiment with which she furnished her bedroom and tries to carry out her everyday life. The hard blow we give with a word, the mean thought or harsh judgment recoils on ourselves. No woman who is hard and critical is happy.

"Take hands and help each other to-day" is the sure road to contentment and happiness.

BITTEN BY A VICIOUS DOG

Brute Shot by Police Officer, Head Sent to Chicago for Examination

Arch McArthur had his hand badly lacerated by a dog belonging to Wren Bishop, Friday afternoon. The dog was shot last evening by Night Police Captain Vogel. Fear that the animal might have been suffering with the rabies caused an examination to be made by Dr. Wilson. Suspicion were partly confirmed and the animal's head had been sent to the Pasteur Institute, Chicago for a more rigid examination. Mr. McArthur was passing along Madison street and noticed the white bull dog which Mr. Bishop has been leading about with a chain for some time past.

Stopping down, Mr. McArthur patted the dog on the head. With a snarl the animal turned and snapped at his hand, sinking his teeth in the flesh. The wound was a very serious one but it somewhat angered Mr. McArthur and he cuffed the animal on the side of the head with his other hand.

Again the animal turned on him and this time its teeth sank into his thumb, penetrating to the bone. Mr. McArthur tried to jerk his hand away but the animal had his teeth locked.

The pain was keen but despite this fact Mr. Arthur caught the animal by the throat with the other hand. His hand closed over the dog's windpipe but would not release its hold and hung on with bull dog tenacity. It was not until its eyes bulged from its head that the teeth relaxed. The victim of the attack hurried to a physician and had the wound cauterized.

Later in the evening neighbors in the vicinity of the Bishop home complained to the police that the animal was acting queerly, that it was howling and in two cases jumped against the widows, breaking the glass. The actions of the animal were so suspicious that it was deemed best to shoot him.

Examination showed to the satisfaction of the experts at the Chicago pasteur institute that the animal was surely mad.

The discovery caused Mr. McArthur and his relatives and friends to feel much alarmed and he hurried to Chicago where he was treated by the specialists. He will have to go to the city daily for fifteen days to take treatment to avoid serious effects.

ANTIOCH BOYS BREAK EVEN ON DOUBLE HEADER

Sunday saw a very exciting time on the local ball grounds. The home team was defeated in the first game with North Chicago by a score of 6 to 1. They lost this game by stupid base running and bad errors in the field.

In the second game the local boys played the Chicago Stars and put up a better game. The score stood 2 to 2 in the eighth inning and the Chicago boys, with two men on base, tried to score on a hit to pitcher Poulton but were doubled up at home on the play at the home plate.

The decision was very close but Umpire Porter was justified in giving the decision he did for the base runner interfered with first baseman VanPatten. The Stars then refused to continue the game and the umpire gave the game to Antioch.

Umpire Porter's decision is covered by the following rule from the Official Base Ball Guide: The runner is out if he occupies third base with no one out or one out and the batsman interferes with a play that is being made at home plate.

The home team plays Silver Lake next Sunday. This will be the second game between these teams this season as Antioch was defeated at Silver Lake on July 4th.

The game with the Bloomer Girls was called off on account of the manager failing to come to terms.

BASE HITS

Catcher Weimberg has found his batting eye—which helps some.

Our "grand old man" in right field played a great game.

Our boys played like a lot of dubs in the first game, but looked like a team of semipros in the second game.

GEORGE OLCOTT'S RESIDENCE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

George Olcott's residence on North avenue was struck and partially wrecked by a lightning bolt in the terrific storm which raised havoc throughout the county Saturday evening.

A hole large enough for a man to crawl through was cut in the south side of the residence. The bolt of lightning was carried through the outer wall of the house and traveled through the lower floor. There was no fire, although neighbors rushed to the scene expecting to be compelled to turn in a fire alarm.—Waukegan Sun.

CONOLLY CHOSEN FOR POST

Republican County Central Committee Met Wednesday at Waukegan

CONOLLY MADE CHAIRMAN

Frank Eddy of Waukegan, Chosen as Secretary—Democrats and Prohibitionists Meet Also

The republican county convention was held at the court house Wednesday morning, and was in fact but a meeting of the county central committee of the party, as provided under the new primary law.

A temporary organization was perfected by the selection of H. P. Gardner of Highland Park as chairman Frank Eddy of Waukegan acting as secretary.

The first ballot for choice of a permanent chairman of the committee and which was the test as between the conflicting factions, one headed by J. L. Taylor of Libertyville, the other by Robert Conolly of Waukegan resulted in sixteen votes for Conolly and ten for Taylor. Mr. Frank Eddy was elected permanent secretary.

Chairman Conolly expressed his appreciation of the honor in a few remarks and called attention of republicans to the task devolving upon them in this the presidential year.

It was agreed to nominate the state and congressional delegations upon the representation as obtained at the preceding election in committee held for that purpose. The result was the naming of the following delegates to the state convention.

Benton 1 and 2—O. W. Farley.
Benton 3—O. C. Penz.
Newport and Antioch—A. N. Tiffany.
Grant, Avon and Warren—Geo. Bingham.

Waukegan 1, 5, and 6—A. J. Truby, Chas. Vedder.

Waukegan 2—David Webb.

Waukegan 3 and 4—John Morrow, Emil Santemeyer.

Shields 1, 2 and 3—David Jackson, O. B. Goss.

Libertyville, Fremont and Wauconda—Paul MacGuffin, B. H. Miller.

Cuba, Elia and Vernon—Fred Kirchner, E. H. Mason.

Deerfield 1, 2 and 3—E. A. Warren, Walter Baldwin.

Under the same apportionment delegates to the congressional convention were named as follows:

Benton 1 and 2—D. A. Ferry, George Weidman, W. A. Curtis.

Benton 3—L. H. Tuttle, Geo. Riehl.

Newport and Antioch—Thos. Strang, A. B. Johnson, Henry Grium.

Grant, Avon and Warren—Roy Bracher, J. M. Palmer, Wm. Rosing.

Waukegan 1, 5 and 6—Frank R. Eddy, H. Deacon, Geo. Bran, Jno. Rectenwald.

Waukegan 2—Robert Spoor, W. S. Bullock.

Waukegan 3 and 4—R. J. Douglas, J. L. Sawyer, Chas. Watrous, Lee McDonough.

Shields 1, 2 and 3—M. C. Decker, T. L. Eastwood, W. H. O'Neil.

Libertyville, Fremont and Wauconda—C. W. Taylor, W. M. Heath, Wm. Vickery.

Cuba, Elia and Vernon—H. L. Prehm, Geo. J. Hager, John Scully.

Deerfield 1, 2 and 3—S. P. Hutchinson, Byron Stevens, Byron Shultz.

Under the new law Mr. Fred Buck was elected at the primaries as senatorial committeeman from this county, and hence the duty of appointment is not by convention as heretofore, leaving but the state and congressional delegates to be chosen by the convention.

At the democratic meeting Daniel A. Grady, who has served as county chairman since the resignation of Al. Conrad, who went over to the republican party, was elected chairman and Fred Bellows was re-elected secretary. Neither had any opposition. There was a large representation.

The executive committee is T. Graham, John Lynch and J. J. Morley.

The prohibitionists held their meeting in Temperance Temple as provided by law Wednesday and elected a chairman and secretary also.

Suggested a Remedy.

At a dinner that the women teachers in New York gave, a male speaker told them that the chief difficulty in their campaign for equal pay came from the men and he thought these gentlemen should be ashamed of themselves and should either as a matter of right grade their pay down to that received by the women or else grade women's pay up to theirs.

SEFFY

A ROMANCE OF A PENNSYLVANIA FARM

By

JOHN LUTHER LONG

SYNOPSIS.

The crowning desire in the life of old Baumgartner, a Pennsylvania German, is to obtain possession of the beautiful meadow which lies just between Baumgartner's property and the railroad station. The property in question was inherited by Sarah Pressel, very pretty and athletic young girl, and belonged solely to her. At length Baumgartner came to realize that his only hope of obtaining the property would be through the marriage of his son Seppchen to Sarah Pressel. In a mock auction "Seffy," as Seppchen is called, is popularly known, is raffled off by his father to Sarah for $1. He appears utterly incapacitated to win in any contest of love or life. Sarah Pressel is quite the opposite of Seffy. She is all life and animation. Her one fault is a very high temper. Baumgartner gives Seffy some lessons in courtship. Baumgartner has caused himself to be appointed guardian of Seffy. Seffy is unable to resist the fascinating witchery of Sally and he kisses her. She promises him, however, that she will never kiss any man but him. Sam Fritz, a drunken grocery clerk—old Baumgartner calls him a "molasses tapper"—calls on Sally and interrupts the kissing. They go into the parlor and begin "tapping." In accordance with the customs of the place and the time, the one who is defeated in such a contest is unworthy the hand of the girl. Seffy goes to sleep and begins snoring. Sally leaves the room in a huff, saying: "Good night, gentlemen." Seffy tells his father of his humiliation. How Sam Fritz had pinned to his bosom while he slept a pasteboard tombstone bearing the inscription: "Seppchen, P. Baumgartner, Jr., went to his rest, June 10, 1871, in the twentieth year of his age. Gone but not forgot. Read backwards." Seffy and Sally meet at the Poison spring. She urges him to do something to redeem himself. The father advises Seffy to take Sally home from church. This would be the crucial test, according to the custom of the times, which often meant disgrace or even murder and suicide. It was the test which a test that the one whose arm the girl accepted when leaving the church would be the favored suitor, and the rejected one was disgraced and must leave town or triumph over his opponent by force. Seffy dreads the church ordeal.

IX.

It Was Seffy Who Was "Sacked."

So they three went to church on a certain Sunday. Sally sat on the "women's side" and Seffy and Sam on the "men's side" in full view of the "audience"—which perceived and understood and was ready at the proper time to applaud, from the preacher to the sexton—to raise or lower its thumbs upon the combatants.

When the benediction had been said Seffy hastened out and found himself a place—close to the door, according to his father's word—in one of the lines of young men which stretched on either side of the path from the church door to the road beyond, at least a quarter of a mile. But he did not see Sam. Some one pushed him in front of him. And, instead of combating for his position, he yielded it and found one further down, still seeking the location of his rival. He was crowded from this one, too, and he let it go and sought another one because he had not seen Sam. And it was necessary to his father's scheme, he remembered, that Sam and he should be about opposite. Of course, all this was error. His place was right by the church door. That was where Sally had a right to expect to find him. He had become a public matter, too. The public had its rights. It expected him there, even if he had to shed the blood of noses to stay there. This had often happened. But he was bewildered in the contradictory courses advised by his father, and, finally, seeking that which seemed best, found that which was worst. Dull Seffy!

He at last discovered Sam and found a lodgment for himself opposite and away down near the gate, where only the married men were—such as still waited for their wives—who amiably smoked until they came along. No unmarried maiden ever expects to be matched there. And, had Seffy been as wise as he was not, he would not have halted there. But he was deluded by Sam. There he was in the opposite line, the wrong one, indifferently chatting, and even smoking, with Hilary Groff—a married man. Seffy was now so sure of his conquest, that Sam's indifference vexed him. Evidently he did not mean to contend with him for Sally's arm, and it was to be a cheap and bloodless victory. For Seffy was one of those who grow brave as opposition diminishes.

And now they were slowly coming down—the maidens running the gantlet of love. One—two—three—four—five—a dozen happy matings were made. Seffy was counting. One poor chap was "sacked." He crushed his hat over his eyes and charged back through the lines and across the fields—no matter where. And then came Sally!—in a trim little hat with a fluttering ribbon that looked for all the world like the white signal, bearing straight down upon him! But there was something in her eyes—expectant—militant—that made them starry. On she came with her head in the air—looking neither to the right nor to the left, as if she expected to walk home alone, nearly three miles!

"Oh, no!" thought Seffy—and Sam. But a bit of terror smote her face pale when she had passed the door—alone—and showed more and more as she went on. Some one laughed—then there was an unmistakable titter along the line. Still Sally passed on, keeping her temper as never before. Was not the old man right about the effect of laughter?

But now the temper loosed itself slowly—her face was scarlet. She had nearly reached the married men. Some one whispered:

"Gosh! He's gitting even by sacking her!"

This was repeated. There was more laughter and more tittering. The crowd deserted the lines nearest the church and followed Sally down on either side in huge tumultuous phalanxes to see what would happen—if it were possible that she would have to go home alone. Several young men who had never dared to approach her began to think of it. They knew that rather than not be taken at all she would take any one of them! There was more tumult now than laughter. And Sally's face grew so white that her eyes blazed like stars in the midst of it.

Seffy quailed. He recognized the temper—only he had never seen it as terrible as this. He had forgotten Sam. It was only Sally he saw, as one sees with fear-stalled nerves the locomotive as it leaps upon him.

And the onlookers, crowding at the sides, thought it a great and terrible hand to hand battle—to wait that way till the last moment and then to spring like tigers—or a piece of tremendous foolishness.

"Both of you must be absolute sure," said Hilary Groff to Sam, "or absolute fools! Ain't you got no pity on the girl?"

"Shut up!" answered Sam, "and watch. I'm calculating on him leaving town to-morrow. That is my game. And I'm playing for the pot."

You see that Sam had not forgotten Seffy for a moment, even if Seffy had forgotten him. He stepped noiselessly three paces toward Sally, crossed in front of Seffy and took her arm. There was a laugh almost ribald. Seffy could not see clearly—he could, indeed, of all, think clearly—he did not know what had happened. He saw only the little white signal before him and blindly put out his arm.

It did not reach Sally at all, but Sam who turned and said with an imitation of girlish politeness:

"Thank you, Mr. Baumgartner, I'm suited."

And, Sally, her face flaming with vengeance, took the trouble to turn back and cry—not into his ear, but into his very heart:

"Thank you, I'm suited."

There are some people to whom no punishment seems sufficient, while any remains to be administered. One of the onlookers was of such a sort. He cried out as poor Seffy slunk away:

CROSSED IN FRONT OF SEFFY AND TOOK HER ARM

"Give her back her dollar!"

And another:

"Or ninety-nine cents, anyhow!"

Seffy quailed and drew back from the line—it was the instant that makes or mars—and he had lost. He might still have knocked Sam down and won—this would have been perfectly proper—but he followed the man who had but a moment before crushed through the line, and wild jeers followed him.

X.

The Huge Fist of the Farmer.

From that day Seffy avoided all public places—and all men. He was nobody—nothing. He fell rapidly into that kind of disrepute which is common to persons with falling reputations. It was to his discredit that he did not leave town, but this his father prevented. Again he took to the cotton woods and the Poison springs, with, perhaps, the dim hope that Sally might again find him there, and that the peeping moon might again interfere on his behalf.

But the moon went through all her phases and then slowly turned her back on him—and Sally never came. In their casual meetings she was ice. Once they passed on the road to the store. She was in precisely the dear garments he remembered so well—of that first day—and as gay as then. He trembled, and then looked up like a mortally wounded animal. She was looking calmly over his head. To the rest of the world she was gayer than ever, though that Sunday night laugh still echoed in her head—kept her maddened. After all, it wasn't worth while to care for even Seffy with such a little spirit. Why didn't he fight—kill Sam or somebody? And the cunning Sam set the story more widely going that for revenge Seffy had deserted her at the church door and that he had first laughed—Seffy. This was too pliant to be passed over, and it was heard far and wide.

To Seffy's father, who, even in this dire strait, strove for happiness for them both—and, of course, the pasture-field—she said with more abandoned disrespect than she had ever addressed to any one:

"You ought to be glad that I do not take revenge on him! If he wasn't so little I would. But he's not worth bothering about. Sacked me, did he? I'll show him!"

"Why, Sally! What would you do?"

"Put him over my knee and spank him and then pen him in the cellar!"

"Sally, don't talk like that," pleaded the old man. "It spiles your voice."

And Sally gave him then and there a rude specimen of how her voice was being spoiled—which I may not reproduce. But it was expressed in anathema. Indeed, others had noticed that her voice, somehow, had lost its soft richness. She was particularly kind to the young storekeeper now, and he was particularly reckless and drunken. And rumor presently had it that she was known to be drunk with him sometimes!

"Sally—," said Seffy timorously, one day, (he had waited to tell her this) "you don't think—you don't believe—that I—said—"

"I know," said Sally in voice that froze him, "that you are a fool—and I am not fond of fools. Go away! He glad I don't lick you!"

And then rumor had it that she and Sam were to be married—"for spite."

But, curiously enough, the person most affected by all this was not Sally, nor Seffy, nor Sam. It was Seffy's father, whose sufferings were nearing agony. Nothing could be done with Seffy. And course of the love between them, which had never been ruffled since Seffy was born, was often ruffled now. The old man, as their relations grew strained, became more and more exasperated at Seffy's lack of initiative.

"Gosh-a-mighty! You goin' to let that molasses-tapper set right down on you and nefer git off? Can't you see that she wants you? It don't matter what she says! Don't you know it's a dare? Air you going to take a dare? Why, you usen't to when you was a baby! When you year that durned new laugh of Sally's can't you see that somesing's wrong? She's drinkin'! That's what! You think she'd laugh so and drink if she was happy? You was a fool—yas, a durn fool. It's your fault. Go right up to her like a man and say so."

"I did," said Seffy.

"Hah, you did? An' what she says?"

"She said she knowed it!"

"Well—begoshens! She's a worse fool. Gather her in and make a fool off of her and git even! Turning her back on an ol' man that harms no one—and her guardian yit!"

Alas, this was another thing he had done to secure the pasture-field—made himself her legal guardian!

"I'll gife it up—the guardian. Yas-sir. She ken take keer herself. Fool—of course. Bese fools! You wait tell she marries that durn molasses-tapper if you want to see fun!"

There was such real agony in the old man's voice that Seffy suffered, too.

"Pappy, I'm sorry—I ain't no good, I expect. I guess I'll go away before the wedding."

"Wedding—wedding! You goin' to let that wedding go on? And him git the pasture-field? Put him between us and the railroad!"

"How can I stop it, pappy?"

"By marrying her yourself!"

"I got enough, pappy," said Seffy hopelessly. "They'd lynch me if I tried it again. I guess I'd better go away."

Quick anger flamed in his father's face at this invertebrate submission. And his voice, when he spoke, was harsher than Seffy had ever heard it.

"Got enough—got enough—that's all you know! And go away! That's all you ken say, you bull-headed idiot! Go and apologize and git her back. Don't run. Then marry her next day. That'll settle the molasses-tapper, I expect, and show that you got an inch or two of backbone! Choke her—chloroform her and carry her off!"

LOST ART OF LETTER WRITING.

Men and Women of To-Day Have No Time for Such Occupation.

It is a well-known fact that nobody writes letters nowadays. It is true we spend a vast deal of time at our writing table, that we consume untold quantities of ink and nibs, while our stationery bill is by no means the most modest item of our ever-increasing expenditure. But we neither write nor receive letters. The utmost we do is to "dash off notes" in answer to invitations, to "scribble a few lines" of congratulation or sympathy, as the case may be, with a friend; to express briefly but forcibly our satisfaction with our dressmaker, or our surprise at our milliner's account. As for our absent relations, on the rare occasions when we remember their existence at all, we send them our love on a post card with a few details about the weather, ending in "tearing haste" with the hope that they will write soon and tell us all their news. Of course, they never do, which is just as well, as if they did we should in all probability never have time to wade through their letters.—L'Inconceivable, in Ladies' Field.

Test Satisfactory—to Himself.

A recent number of Simplicissimus tells this "story with a moral": "The Union Bank of St. Petersburg has its own police service. One night the director was sleepless. He wondered whether the bank police were really trustworthy. He concluded to make a trial. He disguised himself and rushed, pistol in hand, into the bank vault. The police were good for nothing. They looked on quietly while the director pocketed 2,000,000 rubles and carried them away. Since then no one has seen the director."

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

It pays to raise good fruit.

Lime should be freely used in and about the hen house.

If you would be a hero in your wife's eyes, keep the wood box full.

Sun and lice will demand a heavy toll of the careless poultryman.

Give the pigs the chance and they will turn more waste on the farm into profit than any other animal.

The toes of sheep have to be trimmed in order to keep the hoofs from curling and then breaking off unevenly.

If they have not sufficient shade and plenty of good fresh water, the hens will suffer from the heat and turn you down on the egg yield.

In picking a team mate for the colt select the one with the fastest walking gait. Almost impossible to break him of a slow walk if once acquired.

If you do not use an incubator but depend upon hens for hatching your eggs remember and save over the hens that have proved themselves good mothers this year.

The farmer should be good citizen enough to be interested in the politics of his township and county. Have high ideals for your community and then do your best to bring them to pass.

Get a Babcock tester and ascertain the quality of your cream. The government will send you a pamphlet explaining all about the machine if you will write to the department of agriculture at Washington.

On the farm is not out of the nation. The farmer must be citizen as well as farmer, if the nation is to be safe. Keep in touch with the trend of events, local, state and national, and always let your influence be felt on the side of the right.

There should be a closer association between the dairymen in the shipping of their supplies to the city. But to succeed such an organization must be as jealous for the interest of the consumers of these products as for the interests of the people that produce the milk.

A sign of beginning sunstroke is indicated in the horse by flagging steps and unsteady gait. Don't delay. Get him in the shade, unhitch at once and apply cold water to the head and neck, and rub with coarse cloths. Sponge the mouth out with cold water, also. Quinine injected, 40 or more grains to the dose, will also help.

Malignant hog cholera is distinguished from the milder types by the muscular cramps, great prostration, partial loss of motor power and excitability, serious lowering of temperature, slow-flowing blood, violent bowels and fluid defecations like rice water. For treatment Dr. Low recommends the following mixture to be given every 15 minutes: Ether, three drams; sulphuric acid, 15 drops; oil of anise, 5 drops. In the early stages add opium to check diarrhea. To soothe the intestines, feed tea made of linseed or slippery elm.

Delicious corn drops—see that wife makes you some. Use half a dozen ears of young, juicy corn, score the grains with a sharp knife, after having trimmed off the least bit of the surface of each grain, then scrape all the corn from the cob with the back of a knife. Add salt and one egg, the white and yolk, beaten separately. Drop in spoonfuls on either a hot bake iron or frying pan; but in either case use no more fat than is just necessary to grease it. Have the pan or iron hot and bake like griddle cakes, turning when a golden brown underneath.

The tobacco cure for parasites in lambs has been demonstrated by experiments to be the most effective treatment. In fact it has been demonstrated that tobacco is a good preventive for worms in the first place and is hostile to their development after they are started. The physical construction of the lamb is so complex that it is not an easy matter to apply a remedy for all his troubles so it is generally easier to prevent than to cure. The old advice of changing pasture often is the safest plan to follow. This is the time of the year when the worms begin to do considerable harm and when you see the lamb begin to run down and lose his frisky habits you may be pretty sure the worm has got him. A remedy applied in time may save considerable trouble and loss.

Water sprouts should be kept out out.

Don't delay longer the marketing of the old surplus stock.

Dip for the ticks. Sheep infested cannot be fitted for market.

Know your commission man before consigning him a shipment of goods.

Cows that are permitted—sometimes forced—to drink stagnant water will give stringy or ropy milk.

Flow the poultry runs. It will make them look better and will give the hens new ground to scratch in.

Clean cool water at this time of year is needed by all kinds of farm stock, if they would keep in prime condition.

In picking out the hens that are to be sent to market be sure that you get the ones that will no longer prove profitable to you.

The irritable man makes a poor driver of horses, for his ill temper makes the horses nervous and he is never able to get the best work out of them.

The Indiana couple whose friends made them presents of live poultry on their wedding day ought to feel that they have a calling to the poultry-raising profession.

One farmer who has had trouble with mud wallows around his hog troughs and who had tried clay and sand without effect used sawdust as a last resort and found it worked excellently.

Sometimes sheep get deep wounds in which after a time maggots hatched from the eggs of flies find lodgment. In such case inject kerosene to drive out the maggots. Treat every day until the wound is healed.

The poultry interests of the farm are growing. Time was a few years ago when the farmer was content to market five dollars' worth of eggs a month, now he thinks nothing of shipping 60 cases a week, and he counts it a sort of pick up.

Ten hours a day on the farm will count for more where the work is well planned, than 15 hours where the hit and miss method is followed. It is the farmer who never plans anything who is out after nightfall with the lantern finishing up the tail end of the chores.

About the best thing you can do with your common stock rams is to sell them. Then add a little more to the selling price and go off and buy a full bred animal to head your flock for the coming year. It may seem like extravagance at the time but you will see the wisdom of it as you look over the lamb crop of next year.

Turn the farm waste and neglected spots into wood lots where you can grow your own poles, fences and saw logs. It is decidedly worth while to keep all of the farm at work. The owner pays taxes on all his land, and is out of pocket for whatever is not earning him something. Further, by growing a tree crop on land that is too poor to plow the quality of the land itself is improved. Forests add humus to the soil, bettering its character.

In the early stages of the disease, heaves may be cured by turning the afflicted animal upon pasture or keeping on cornstalks or other dustless laxative food. Hay should not be allowed except at night, and then in small amount and shaken free from dust. The bowels must never be constipated, the stable must be kept well aired, and the use of water for drink, into which a few drops of oil of pine tar have been put, is recommended. Do not use too much of the tar, as it will nauseate.

Here is a recipe for salting meat which has proved satisfactory: For 100 pounds of meat take ten quarts of saltwater; one pound of pepper and two pounds of yellow sugar. Mix well, put in a tub or some suitable vessel, and then apply the mixture well to the meat. Care should be taken to apply it thoroughly in the cracks and around the edges. After the meat has taken all the salt possible, hang it up and powder it with powdered borax. Then smoke the meat. This is said to be the most successful method of salting meat there is, both from a standpoint of purity and flavor.

Where hay is stacked in the field a hay derrick is almost a necessity. You can make one for yourself as follows: Get a main pole about 45 feet long. Plant on a heavy plank that is pegged to the ground, and run from the top of the pole three guy ropes and fasten to stakes 15 to 20 yards distant. The boom for the top is made of a pole about 15 feet long and is hinged to a metal band on the upright pole at about ten feet from the top. A heavy rope about 12 feet long secures the outer end of the boom to the top of the main pole. The hay fork is attached by pulleys placed at the upper end of the boom at the point where this meets the main pole and at the base of it. By locating this derrick between two foundations two stacks can be built without moving it. A fine way to use this derrick is to draw shocks of hay near to the base of the stack with a drag rope and lift them directly on to the stack which avoids loading on the wagon.

LOOKED FOR OTHER TWO.

Little One Had But One Idea of Term "Fore-Handed."

Little Catherine has been boarding on a farm this summer, and many of the rural expressions are wholly unfamiliar to her. One day she chanced to hear her country hostess praising the good qualities of a certain thrifty neighbor.

"He really ain't got much, compared to some folks," said the farmer's wife, "but he makes out wonderful well; he's so fore-handed."

That evening the man thus lauded happened to drop in, and Katherine immediately sidled up to him, with curious eyes. Slowly she revolved about the chair in which he sat, and so persistently did she gaze at him that the farmer's wife finally noticed it.

"Well, Katherine," she said, "you seem to find a good deal to look at in Mr. B—; don't you?"

"Why," replied the child, her little forehead wrinkled in perplexity. "I did want to see his two uvver hands, but I can't. Is he sittin' on 'em?"

TRIPP COUNTY, S. D.

Government Land Opening.

The government opening of a million acres of fine agricultural and grazing lands will probably occur about Oct. 1st. The Rosebud extension of The Chicago & North Western Ry. is the only railway reaching these lands, and Dallas, S. D., is the railway terminus and the only town on the reservation border. The U. S. land office will probably be located there. Pamphlets describing this land and how to secure a quarter section homestead, free on application to W. B. Kniskern, P. T. M., C. & N. W. Ry., Chicago, Ill.

THE "LESS" AGE.

Cholly—It's wonderful, bah Jove! Riding without hawses, telegraphing without wires, and all these things. Maude—Yes and thinking without brains.

One by the Colonel.

Some one had been telling the colonel about weather so warm that eggs could be fried on the sidewalk. "Call that hot weather?" scoffed the colonel. "Why, that's nothing, sah." "Think not, colonel?"

"No, sah. Why, Ah have seen it so hot down south, sah, that the popcorn popped right on the stalk."

"Whew!"

"And that's not all, sah. The juice in the cane in the next field turned to molasses, ran through the fence, mixed up with the popcorn and formed the finest combination of popcorn and molasses that ever crossed your lips, sah. Talk about hot weather? Huh!"

Absorbing.

Silas—Ha! Ha! Reuben got bunked again. Cyrus—Do tell! What was it this time?

Silas—Why, Reuben saw an ad that stated that for one dollar they would send him some of the most absorbing literature he ever read.

Cyrus—And what did they send him?

Silas—Why, they sent him a pamphlet entitled "How Blotters Are Made" and another entitled "Points on Turkish Towels."

SELF DELUSION

Many People Deceived by Coffee.

We like to defend our indulgences and habits even though we may be convinced of their actual harmfulness.

A man can convince himself that whisky is good for him on a cold morning, or beer on a hot summer day—when he wants the whisky or beer. It's the same with coffee. Thousands of people suffer headaches and nervousness year after year but try to persuade themselves the cause is not coffee—because they like coffee.

"While yet a child I commenced using coffee and continued it," writes a Wis. man, "until I was a regular coffee fiend. I drank it every morning and in consequence had a blinding headache nearly every afternoon."

"My folks thought it was coffee that ailed me, but I liked it and would not admit it was the cause of my trouble, so I stuck to coffee and the headaches stuck to me."

"Finally, the folks stopped buying coffee and brought home some Postum. They made it right (directions on pkg.) and told me to see what difference it would make with my head, and during the first week on Postum my old affliction did not bother me once. From that day to this we have used nothing but Postum in place of coffee—headaches are a thing of the past and the whole family is in fine health."

"Postum looks good, smells good, tastes good, is good, and does good to the whole body." "There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

State Capital News

Breezy Gossip, Notes and Doings of Interest at Springfield.

Springfield.—Complete primary election returns from all counties in Illinois give Gov. Deneen a majority of 12,035 over Richard Yates.

The total vote for each candidate has been received from all of the 102 counties in the state. The figures from these were in most cases official, and in the exceptions they are from such reliable sources that they are considered correct.

The counties give Deneen 202,780 votes and Yates 190,745, leaving Deneen 12,035 ahead in all the counties.

The official canvass of the vote of Sangamon county was completed. Of the Republicans for United States senator, Hopkins has 3,193; Foss, 3,256; Mason, 1,729; and Webster, 230. For governor, Deneen has 4,372; Yates, 4,844. For the Democrats, Stringer for United States senator has 3,830, and Blakely, 598. For governor Stevenson has 2,500; Pattison, 360; McGorty, 439; Lewis, 142; Gunther, 93; Monroe, 81, and Kimbrough, 35.

Trolley Line Planned.

A new trolley line is in prospect from Alton to Jacksonville, a distance of 64 miles, through the announcement of an Alton construction company that work on the extension of the new Alton, Peoria & Jacksonville electric road will begin September 15. The line is now built from Alton to Godfrey, a distance of four miles, and the cars in operation carry many passengers. Jerseyville is the next objective point and the citizens and business men of that city are anxious to bring the plans to completion. Several prominent men of Jerseyville are the promoters of the company. The money to build through to Jacksonville is said to have been pledged by an European syndicate. An extension from Jacksonville to Peoria along the bluffs of the Illinois river later is planned.

Animal Doctors Meet.

Twenty veterinarians from all parts of the state were present at the twentieth semi-annual meeting of the Illinois Veterinary, Medical and Surgical association. Among those who made addresses were Dr. S. L. Swain of Decatur, Dr. S. L. Sheldor of Sycamore, Dr. W. Bralton of Champaign, Dr. N. P. Whitmore of Gardner, Dr. V. G. Hunt of Arcola, Dr. J. R. Pray of Mazon, Dr. J. W. Marsh of Illinois, Dr. W. J. Martin of Kankakee, Dr. C. A. Hurlbut of Stonington, Dr. I. M. Luzader of Nokomis, Dr. S. D. Brown of Assumption, Dr. John Tyrell of Maclean, Dr. J. R. Groves of Cerro Gordo, Dr. T. M. Corkery of Urbana and Dr. V. O. Hanes of Stanford. The meeting adjourned for an interval of six months.

Rain Aids the Farmers.

From the reports received by the weather bureau it appeared that rains were general over the south and central portions of the state of Illinois within the last few days, but the north part of the state suffered until a heavy storm drenched the entire section. The natural result is to encourage the farmers in the corn belt where for some time past the crops have been suffering for rain. The rain has been worth thousands of dollars to the farmers in all sections. While the total rainfall was a little less than half an inch in the south, it was sufficient to give a notable impulse to the growing corn and also to gardens, which were suffering for lack of moisture.

Talk Chicken Scoring.

The matter of scoring chickens for the Illinois state fair will be considered by the members of the Sangamon County Poultry association, which will meet August 25 in the supervisors' room in the courthouse. This was decided at a meeting of the organization held at the Washington park casino. In the absence of President Jerome Leland, the chair was occupied by E. B. Lyons. The attendance was large at the meeting, but it is planned to have all the township vice-presidents at the next meeting, where further plans of the organization will be discussed.

Offer Special Prizes.

Special prizes continue to be received for the Illinois Corn exposition. The officers of the Farmers' bank made a contribution of $25 cash for a special premium and Manager Roberts also received word the following would be donated: Oliver gang plow, value $65, by C. R. Talbot; Ohio range, value $50, by the Johnston-Hatcher company; Princess dresser, value $25, by Warren & Co.; 25 balls Wright's stock food, value $68.75, by Wright Stock Food company.

Banks Help Corn Show.

Many of the town parties have donated special premiums for the Illinois Corn exposition, among them banks and others in Sangamon and adjoining counties. These special premiums will be offered in cash and among those who have donated such are G. D. Sutton of Mason City, who contributes $200, the Williamsville bank, the Bank of Elkhart, the Farmers' State bank of Illinois and the Citizens' National bank of Decatur. The four banks gave $25 each as special offerings.

Prohib Leaders Gather in City.

Dan R. Sheen of Peoria, Prohibition candidate for governor; Alonzo E. Wilson, chairman of the party's state central committee; Bob Patton of Springfield and other wheel horses of the water wagon crowd met at the St. Nicholas hotel and when the conference was ended it was agreed that the man from the whiskey town would be the next governor of Illinois. Such was the confidence of Chairman Wilson that he made the statement without a smile following the ending of the conference and according to the arguments he advanced, more surprising things than Prohibition governor of Illinois might happen. Sheen is well-to-do, extremely popular in his own district, where he was elected to the general assembly, and has a wide acquaintance throughout the state. He has the edge on the other candidate in that he has already started his campaign, having spoken in many counties, and he has no factional wounds to heal in the ranks of his followers.

Equalization Board in Session.

The opening session of the state board of equalization was held and the body adjourned until September 1, when a majority of the reports from various counties will have been filed with the state auditor. Capt. W. H. Eubanks, chief clerk to the state auditor, was named secretary of the board. William Hodgson of Springfield and Capt. James Kinney of Toulon were appointed clerks of the railroad committee. Capt. Richard Clark of Rock Island and Alexander Sholl of Quincy are clerks of the committee on capital stock of corporations. The counties of Crawford, Hardin and Menard are the only ones from which reports have been filed. Under the state law county officials are given until September 7 to file statements.

Want Idle Cars Repaired.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association will probably bring its influence to bear upon the railroads to take immediate steps towards repairing all idle cars to avoid a car shortage this fall. Shippers are alarmed over the possibility of a car famine and are criticizing the railroads for failing to keep cars in repairs during the business depression. Until recently many railroads have done practically no repair work and it is claimed that a large part of the surplus of cars is still unfit for service. It is understood that a plan of action to impress upon the railroads the necessity of placing equipment in repair will be mapped out.

Hotel Clerks to Meet.

Plans for organizing a body to be known as the Illinois Hotel Clerks' association were given impetus at a meeting held at the St. Nicholas hotel, at which a number of local clerks were present, and correspondence from clerks of hotels throughout the state was read. A convention of the hotel clerks of this state has been called to meet in this city August 22, and the organization will be perfected at that time. It is expected that every hotel in the state will have a representative at the meeting.

Preparing for State Fair.

Visitors to the Illinois state fair and residents of this city will be afforded plenty of amusement during the evenings of that week, according to the program which will be issued in a few days by the carnival committee of the Springfield Business Men's association. Acts of the most thrilling nature have been secured and most of the performances will be given in the air so that all may see. There will be no carnival parade but the street illumination will be much the same as in former years.

Judges Are to Decide.

Judges of election are empowered to decide ties in contests for city and county committeemen, according to an opinion furnished to County Clerk Charles E. Opel by Attorney General Stead. The information will be used as a guide in determining who shall serve on the committee from districts where tie votes were recorded. In his statement to County Clerk Opel the attorney general says the election judges are empowered to decide ties for city and county committeemen.

Stevenson to Stump State.

A. E. Stevenson, Democratic nominee for governor, announced his itinerary for a stump tour, so far as arranged, as follows: Cullom, Chatsworth, Pana, August 18; Paxton, August 26; Warsaw, August 27; Savanna, August 28; Hillsboro, September 3; Bloomington, September 7; Leroy, September 8.

Begin Paying Volunteer Soldiers.

The Illinois adjutant general's department has begun the distribution of the $124,000 allowed by the federal government in the act of March 3, 1899, to Illinois volunteer soldiers in the Spanish-American war of 1898. The money was received by Gov. Deneen a few weeks ago and arrangements were begun immediately for its distribution. All payment will be made through the adjutant general's office, the governor's only function in the procedure being the signing of the pay checks.

Is Pe-ru-na Useful for Catarrh?

Should a list of the ingredients of Pe-ru-na be submitted to any medical expert, of whatever school or nationality, he would be obliged to admit without reserve that the medicinal herbs composing Pe-ru-na are of two kinds. First, standard and well-tried catarrh remedies. Second, well-known and generally acknowledged tonic remedies. That in one or the other of these uses they have stood the test of many years' experience by physicians of different schools, there can be no dispute about this, whatever. Pe-ru-na is composed of some of the most efficacious and universally used herbal remedies for catarrhal diseases, and for such conditions of the human system as require a tonic. Each one of the principal ingredients of Pe-ru-na has a reputation of its own in the cure of some phase of catarrh or as a tonic medicine.

The fact is, chronic catarrh is a disease which is very prevalent. Many thousand people know they have chronic catarrh. They have visited doctors over and over again, and been told that their case is one of chronic catarrh. It may be of the nose; throat, lungs, stomach or some other internal organ. There is no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The only trouble is the remedy. This doctor has tried to cure them. That doctor has tried to prescribe for them.

No other household remedy so universally advertised carries upon the label the principal active constituents, showing that Pe-ru-na invites the full inspection of the critics.

THE ANTIOCH NEWS.
ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS.
A REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER.
PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
A. B. JOHNSON, Editor and Proprietor
By Mail, One Dollar per Year, in Advance
Telephone, Antioch No. 402.

EDITORIAL NOTES.
All indications point to the strong probability that Mr. Taft will carry Ohio by a large and jubilant majority.

Yes, such things can be done in Springfield, the home of Lincoln, capitol of the state of Illinois, just the same as in Georgia.

Mr. Bryan was careful to inform the notification committee that he would have more to say at a later period. Bear in mind, ladies and gentlemen, that the performance in the main tent is not half over.

The state's attorney of Sangamon county has set out to throw some light on the Springfield riot. He says: "It is a situation which has been approaching from ten years of unrestricted lawlessness, packed juries, and a studied refusal of the authorities having the power to secure the enforcement of the laws." This is a startling statement to come from an official who is supposed to play an important part in the enforcement of the laws. It does not go sufficiently into details. It does not specify the authorities who have failed to secure the enforcement of the laws. There is a mention of packed juries, but the responsibility for them is not put on anybody. It does not appear from the statement that the state's attorney has ever appealed to the attorney general or anybody else for aid in putting an end to what he calls "ten years of unrestricted lawlessness" in Sangamon county. This general indictment of a county by its chief prosecuting officer is a novelty. What has been the matter with the people of Springfield and Sangamon? One would like to know why it is that they have acquiesced so long in a regime of lawlessness which bore fruit, according to the state's attorney, in the frantic and murderous lawlessness of last week. The first business in hand is to put a stop to mob violence if it shall take all the national guardsmen in Illinois. Next in order comes the arrest and punishment of the rioters. After these matters shall have been attended to it will be in order to find out what has been ailing Sangamon county, to what extent the misconduct or laches of past or present authorities was responsible for the whirlwind of passion that has devastated the capital.—Chicago Tribune.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

IRA D. SANKEY DIES

FAMOUS SINGING EVANGELIST HAS PASSED AWAY.

BLIND AND BROKEN DOWN

He Wrote the Gospel Hymns of the World and Traveled with D. L. Moody for Many Years.

New York.—Ira D. Sankey, known as an evangelist throughout the Christian world, died Thursday night at his home in Brooklyn, but the news of his passing did not become generally known until Friday. Mr. Sankey was 68 years old.

For the last five years he had been blind and had suffered from a complication of diseases brought on by overwork. But almost to the very last he worked at hymn writing. His tours throughout this country and Europe with Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, brought him into wide prominence.

Sankey, it might be said, wrote the gospel hymns of the world. In China, Egypt, India, Japan, in almost every language known to man, Sankey's hymns are sung. He received a large income from his publications and leaves a considerable estate. Among Mr. Sankey's most familiar compositions are "The Ninety and Nine," and "When the Mists Have Rolled Away." His songs are said to have had a circulation of more than 50,000,000 copies.

He was a rapid composer and wrote book after book of gospel hymns. During the last five or six years of his life he was interested in preparing and publishing the story of the gospel hymns. At the same time he saved his wonderful voice for posterity by singing into phonographs. The records were sent all over the world.

Sankey first met Moody at a Y. M. C. A. convention in Indianapolis. Moody was so charmed with the young man's voice that he urged him to accompany him on his evangelistic tours. Sankey explained that he was married and could not give up his position. "You must come," said Moody; "I can't get along without you." Sankey consulted his wife and they cast in their lot with Mr. Moody. They visited Great Britain from 1873 to 1875, and again in 1883, and made many tours throughout the United States.

MAN AND WIFE MURDERED.

Bloody Tragedy in Columbus, O., Mystifies the Police.

Columbus, O.—Arthur Neldlander, aged 34, and his wife, aged 19, were found dead Sunday, the former in a room above his grocery store near the western corporation line, and the woman in the street adjoining the store. The man's body lay in bed. He had been shot through the left breast and there were two knife wounds in the heart. The woman had been shot in the side, the bullet passing through both lungs. The police have made one arrest, that of John Newkirk, aged 30, a painter who lives with his mother not far from the Neldlander grocery. He is said to have threatened to kill the couple because their dog bit his mother recently. The crime, however, mystifies the police.

FOUR CHICAGOANS DROWN.

Launch Is Capsized in Dells of the Wisconsin River.

Kilbourn, Wis.—By the capsizing of a pleasure launch on the Wisconsin river Thursday afternoon four Chicago people were drowned, as follows: Miss Mabel Ward, Mrs. W. G. Heath and E. G. Pfeiffer and his son Ralph.

The launch containing nine persons, among them Mrs. Pfeiffer and daughter, was returning from a trip through the Dells. When near the dock the boat got into the waves of a passing steamer and capsized, throwing all the occupants into the water.

Enterprise, Kan.—William Q. Hinz, 21 years of age, of Milwaukee, Wis., was drowned here Thursday evening while bathing in the Smoky Hill river. He was an insurance man.

FEUD ENDS IN TRAGEDY.

Italian Kills Enemy, Wounds Latter's Father and Commits Suicide.

West Chester, Pa.—Benjamin De Gildo of Philadelphia shot and killed Benjamin de Felix and fatally wounded Pasquale de Felix, father of the murdered man, here Sunday, and then, to escape capture at the hands of an infuriated mob, committed suicide by shooting himself.

The sensational shooting is said to be the outgrowth of a feud that had existed between the Italians for a long time. The bad feeling was recently increased by the arrest of de Felix, the murdered man, on a charge of keeping a speakeasy and being identified with a counterfeiting plot.

AEROPLANE IS WRECKED

WRIGHT TRIES NEW METHOD OF DESCENT AT LE MANS.

Frame of Machine Torn—Accident Follows Some Remarkable Flights.

Le Mans, France.—The Wright aeroplane suffered an accident Thursday which will require several days and possibly a week to repair.

After two superb flights Wilbur Wright essayed a new and daring method of descent. He stopped the motor at a height of 75 feet and tried to come to earth on a gradual descending glide. The calculations were not absolutely correct and the left wing of the aeroplane came in contact with the ground. This tore the frame of the machine. Mr. Wright was not injured.

Mr. Wright said he did not regard the accident as serious, and explained that these were only incidental experiences devoted to acquiring complete mastery of the difficulties of aviation and the execution of new maneuvers.

Mr. Wright's first flight Thursday eclipsed all his former efforts. He made seven complete tours of the field over the tops of the trees. According to the official time he was in the air eight minutes and 53 seconds. The aeroplane was in command by a 15-mile breeze, but in spite of this he showed greater facility in maneuvering than he did when there was a dead calm. His landing was easy and successful in every way.

Mr. Wright's second flight, which lasted two minutes, was a novel one. The aeroplane soared and descended at will, executing bewildering turns. Suddenly, as viewed from the grandstand, the machine lost its speed and began curving slowly toward the earth. All appeared to be going well until it was tilted to leeward and the delicate frame-work struck the ground, with the result that it was damaged and torn.

Mr. Wright calmly stepped out and examined the wreck. He was quickly surrounded by anxious friends, to whom he explained that there had been no accident in the air, but that he had merely decided to try a new descent. He shut off the motor at a height of 75 feet and endeavored to float downward.

SHOOTS BRIDE AND SELF.

Louis Ryan of Bridgeport, Ill., Attempts a Double Murder.

Clay City, Ill.—"Something will happen on August 13."

The foregoing statement is the substance of a note written by Louis A. Ryan, 35 years old, of Bridgeport, Ill., who Thursday thrice wounded his bride as she struggled to escape from a room, the door of which he had locked, and then turned his revolver on himself and inflicted a probably fatal wound in the head. The note was found in Ryan's pocket, following the shooting. The attempted murder and suicide occurred in a hotel at Noble, Ill., seven miles west of here.

Mrs. Ryan was shot twice in the left arm and once in the breast, but it is believed she will recover. Ryan shot himself in the left temple, the bullet emerging behind the right ear. His condition is critical.

Before their marriage the couple lived in Delphos, O. She was Miss Minta Schaeffer. Several days ago Mrs. Ryan came to Noble to visit an aunt and was later joined by her husband. No cause for the shooting is known.

McAlester, Okla.—In a general fight between a number of white men and negroes at Adamson, a mining town near here, late Saturday night, Harry Mineson, white, was killed, a number of negroes wounded, and Deputy Sheriff Wilcox was badly beaten. CAPT. HAINS KILLS WILLIAM ANNIS AT YACHT CLUB.

Brother of Army Officer Keeps Back Crowd Which Witnesses Tragedy at New York.

New York.—Capt. Peter Conover Hains, Jr., of the United States army, Saturday fired six bullets from his revolver into William E. Annis of New York, owner and publisher of Burr McIntosh's Monthly and other magazines. Annis died in the Flushing hospital a few hours later.

Capt. Hains was accompanied by his brother, Thornton Alexander Jenkins Hains, a magazine writer, who had accused Annis of paying improper attention to the captain's wife.

A crowd of gayly dressed women, including Mrs. Annis, was at the yacht club. Annis was out on the water in his racing sloop. Mrs. Annis noted the coming of the Hains brothers and, although they talked of real estate, discussed the value of property in the neighborhood, she divined that they sought her husband. As Annis approached the dock in his half rater his wife ran to the water's edge, waving her hands and shouting to him not to land. He gave no heed.

As Annis and a fellow club member were landing Capt. Hains opened fire from a magazine pistol. The crowd at the clubhouse rushed onto the float to attempt a rescue, but Thornton Hains drew his revolver and threatened to shoot the first man who interfered.

"This is an affair between these two," he said, calmly.

Capt. Hains and his brother, neither of whom appeared in any way disturbed, awaited the arrival of the police on the club float and then surrendered themselves.

In the construction of the Simplon tunnel in Italy he is said to have broken the world's record for fast boring.

FLEET LEAVES NEW ZEALAND.

American Battleships Sail from Auckland for Sydney.

Auckland, N. Z.—The American Atlantic fleet departed for Sydney at 8:15 o'clock Saturday morning. The weather was fine and large crowds were ashore and aloft to bid farewell to the Americans. Excursion craft loaded to the rails dotted the harbor.

As anchors were hoisted and the flagship pointed her nose toward the mouth of the harbor, pandemonium reigned. The shore batteries belched forth parting salutes which were answered by the American ships, and the whistles and sirens on the excursion flotilla resounded across the harbor and were re-echoed by the distant hills. The American ships were kept busy dipping their flags in answer to the salutations of the New Zealanders.

Sir Joseph Ward, the premier, and a large number of officials were aboard a government steamer, and as each battleship passed Sir Joseph led the rousing cheers for the Americans. The battleship Kentucky, which was the last in the line, responded lustily with cheers for New Zealand and the bands on both vessels played the British and American national anthems and "Auld Lang Syne."

Auckland.—The American battleship fleet, which started for Sydney on Saturday morning, passed Cape Maria Van Diemen, the northwest extreme of North Island, at 4:45 Sunday morning. Light winds prevailed.

Nelson was the point of origin of the fire. A roaring log fire in an open fireplace overheated the flue, which ignited the woodwork beneath the roof. Beside the Nelson cottage, those of John Allen of Brooklyn and James Wing were destroyed. The hotel was owned by A. P. Scoville and was entertaining about 125 guests.

The guests at the Nelson cottage saved few of their effects, but those of the other cottages and the hotel were able to drag their trunks to the lake front.

SPRINGFIELD'S FIERCE RIOT RESULTS IN SIX DEATHS

Terrible Race War Makes Necessary Calling Out of Nearly All of Illinois National Guard and the Troops Repress All Further Outbreaks.

Springfield, Ill.—Two more deaths Sunday and one Monday from injuries received in mob fights increased to six the fatalities resulting from the terrible rioting and race war that raged in Springfield Friday night and Saturday.

William Donnigan, the aged colored man whose throat was cut Saturday night, expired at 11 a. m. Frank Delmore, who was shot through the lungs Friday night, passed away an hour later.

Monday night J. W. Scott succumbed to a gunshot wound in the lungs received Friday night.

More Trouble If Bowe Dies.

Another death is expected momentarily. W. H. Bowe, chief clerk in the county treasurer's office and one of the most popular citizens of Springfield, is slowly sinking from the effects of the bullet wounds and the beating which he received from a crowd of negroes Friday night. Bowe's friends have warned the authorities that "Billy" will be avenged and the event of his death will cause a redoubting of vigilance by the troops' commanders.

Evidence is not lacking that many citizens who were known to have important testimony regarding the mob and its leaders have been deterred from offering this to the state's attorney because of threats of violence made against them anonymously.

Loot from Stores Recovered.

The gathering of evidence began in earnest Monday. Policemen in plain clothes were sent to search the houses of prisoners and suspects, and as a result the police station looked like a general store. Groceries, hardware, clothing, dry goods and shoes were recovered in great quantities, most of them bearing the price tags of the looted business houses. Naturally many arrests followed. Eighty prisoners were crowded into the small cell room at the police station.

Troops There Number 4,200.

With the arrival here Sunday of the Second and Seventh Infantry regiments, I. N. G., and two squadrons of the First cavalry, all from Chicago, the entire National Guard of Illinois, with the exception of the Sixth Infantry and the Eighth Infantry (colored) was on duty in the riot-ridden districts Sunday night. In all, 4,200 guardsmen are in the city.

Private J. B. Klein, Company A, First Infantry, killed a young man named Earl Nelson at Kankakee, and his case was considered Sunday by a regimental court of inquiry, which reported to Adj. Gen. Scott that Klein's act was performed in the strict line of duty.

Following is a list of the dead:

The Dead.
William Donnigan, negro, 60 years old, lynched by mob.
Scott Burton, 65 years old, negro, lynched by mob.
John Caldwell, shot in stomach by militia.
J. W. Scott, 70 years old, shot during rioting.
Frank Delmore, white, shot in left side with rifle, employed at Windsor hotel.
Louis Johnson, 17 years old, shot during rioting.

Night of Wild Riot.

From the early attack of the mob on the Loper restaurant in the business district of the city Friday night, there developed rapidly as the morning wore on the most vicious race war that Illinois has ever experienced.

The red torch of anarchy was carried through the disreputable districts and applied to the homes of the negroes, good and bad, without discrimination.

The night was made hideous with the volleys of gun fire by reckless men and the demoniacal screams and shouts of drunken men athirst for blood and destruction.

The sum total of the night's work was the destruction of the Loper restaurant, the complete ruin of 25 or 30 small places of business on East Washington street and the burning of 50 houses in the residence district where the negroes had congregated.

The story of Friday night runs in four chapters: The looting of the lowed to run through the city. The officials were afraid the rioters would break into the cars and kill the colored porters.

Guns were taken away from the members of the Springfield company of militia as they marched down the street.

Desultory fighting was going on in several parts of the city while the main crowd, 10,000 strong, was tearing up the negro quarter.

Prominent Man Beaten by Negroes.

A sign of the feelings with which the blacks regarded all whites was given when William H. Bowe, chief clerk in the county treasurer's office, narrowly escaped being lynched by a band of negroes while on the way to his home early Saturday morning.

With two companions he had gone to the district known as the "bad lands" to see the devastation wrought by the flames. As they were leaving a dozen negroes confronted Bowe and his friends and ordered them to halt.

Bowe alone obeyed the order, the others running away. After probably fatally shooting Bowe his assailants robbed him of jewelry, tearing a diamond ring from his finger.

Joe Farmer, one of the gang, recognized Bowe and pleaded with the others not to lynch him. Only for this he probably would have been killed.

Mayor Issues Proclamation.

In an effort to reduce the crowds on the street to a minimum, Mayor Reece on Saturday issued a proclamation requesting all good citizens to remain at their homes and not to congregate on the streets, and thereby lend strength to the turbulent element.

Mayor Reece also requested all business houses and stores, with the exception of restaurants and drug stores, to close their doors at six o'clock. The merchants promptly complied with the mayor's request.

But while this plan for keeping people off the streets was aided by the storekeepers, the citizens generally did not pay much heed to the executive's proclamation. Thousands of people not only from Springfield, but from surrounding cities, thronged the streets, and the appeals of the soldiers and police to disperse were in vain.

Mark Houses of Whites.

In the poorly-lighted residence sections in where there was a scattering of whites, the latter took the precaution on retiring of hanging white clothes on the doors or the fronts of the houses to notify the rioters that the places were not occupied by negroes.

Most of the negroes and their families who were burned out or otherwise made homeless by the mob were cared for in tents at Camp Lincoln, and a guard of troops was placed there to protect them.

Mayor Hides and Flees.

In connection with the mayor's attempt to quiet the crowd during the attack on Loper's place Friday night it was related that the mob became so threatening against the mayor himself that after he had been forced to Mueller's cigar store, adjoining Men ran into the street and grabbed horses' bits. Others cut the hose. The department had to content itself with holding fires from spreading to homes of white men.

We are proud of our stock and have reason to be because every pair of shoes on our shelves is as good as can be made. Fall tans and ox bloods are the popular shoe and don't be afraid of them for they will be worn all winter. Made in all leather or with the vesting and ooz tops. We have several styles in both ladies and gents. Then we have a ladies gun metal at $3.00 that is a wonder. That comfortable, stylish round toe, medium heel, good solid sole and everything correct. Just the shoe you have been waiting for. Ask to see the new gun metal.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else.
It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend
